

Driving a strategic approach to flexible working

Learn about how flexible workplaces will shape the fortunes of companies in the future. The shift towards new ways of working will require leaders to be masters at managing flexible teams – a skill that needs to be learned and cultivated.

Join us for a practical discussion about the leadership skills that will be required and the benefits of flexibility to organisational and team productivity and engagement.

We will also highlight the Workplace Gender Equality Agency's new flexibility resources, designed to build the capability of organisations to implement and manage flexible teams, and provide an overview of the Equilibrium Man Challenge – a new campaign that aims to mainstream flexible work practices.

Our panel will take participants through the following:

- The importance for employers to embrace a whole of enterprise approach to flexibility
- Why companies are moving towards flexible working
- How flexible working changes the way we work and live
- Management opportunities and challenges of flexible working
- Addressing some of the fear-based myths about flexible working
- The leadership skills required to successfully manage flexibility
- The business and societal benefits of flexible working.

Session Details

Date:

Friday 19 February 2016

Location:

WGEA Boardroom
Level 7, 309 Kent Street
Sydney

Session Time:

Session will commence at 12pm and conclude at 2pm.

Attendance at the Forum is complimentary and will include lunch.

Please RSVP to:

Tom Hatch on 03 8632 9952 or email thatch@dfp.com.au

by Monday 15 February 2016

dfp.com.au

Your Host & Panel:

DFP Recruitment is pleased to partner with the Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) to host this event. We have assembled an expert panel combining specialist thought leaders in flexible working and senior executives involved in implementing flexible working practices and managing flexible teams. The panel brings a wealth of knowledge and practical experience from public and private sectors as well as exposure to both the Australian and International landscape.

